

New Forum For China Trading News And Advice

Your China Trading Partner, Beijing, have opened a new forum for news, advice, and reviews relating to safe trading with China.

Beijing, China, June 14, 2009 –

Your China Trading Partner, Beijing, have recently added a new open forum to their website on www.yourchinatradingpartner.com, offering a wide variety of interactive news, advice, and views on how to trade safely with China.

There are a growing number of people complaining of having lost money in their China trade dealings; but Your China Trading Partner are offering this free service in an attempt to counter and minimise risk for entrepreneurs, small and medium businesses, by giving them the chance to air their views, opinions, and experiences, whilst at the same time reading enlightening articles on the subject of trade with China, written by the owner Mr. Ken Stone.

Mr. Stone, a UK citizen, has now been a working resident of China since 2001, and is married to a Chinese national.

Membership of the forum costs nothing, and you can choose to be emailed and kept up-to-date with forum topics which you find of specific interest. Similarly, you may also make your own contributions or make suggestions to the forum.
